Altro Transflor takes off in airport buses

International bus manufacturer Contrac, is ensuring passengers at international airports enjoy safe, slip free passage on and off planes, thanks to Altro Transflor.

Transflor flooring is being fitted in Contrac's Cobus vehicles, which are used at every major airport throughout the world. Manufactured in Portugal, Cobus vehicles are specially designed to transport passengers and their luggage between planes and terminals. The volume and weight of traffic within the buses means the flooring needs to be extremely durable and hard wearing, while also providing slip resistance within such a bustling environment.

To date, Altro Transflor has been used in all Cobus vehicles produced. The product complements the bus interior and provides a smart looking floor that is also easy to keep clean.

“We have received nothing but positive feedback from customers regarding the quality and appearance of the flooring in Cobus vehicles,” said Richard Swoboda, technical division director of Contrac. “We’re sure that if we had used conventional flooring in Cobus vehicles instead of Altro Transflor, they would not have been as successful with customers across the world. In our opinion, the flooring from Altro is ideal for our needs.”
